AND

THE PENNSYLVANIA PERFORMING ARTS COMPANY

The background of the lower section is a vibrant golden-yellow. It features a central burst of light rays emanating from the bottom, creating a sense of radiance. Scattered throughout the space are various musical symbols, including eighth notes, quarter notes, and a treble clef. The overall aesthetic is festive and celebratory.

NOTE FROM THE DIRECTORS:

As we celebrate the finale of our Holiday Music and Theater Recital, we want to take a moment to express our heartfelt appreciation for everyone who helped bring this magical season to life.

To our incredible performers—our singers, musicians, actors, and storytellers—thank you for sharing your talent, imagination, and dedication. Your hard work in rehearsals and on stage truly brought the spirit of the season alive. Watching you grow in skill, confidence, and creativity has been our greatest joy.

To the parents, families, and supporters, thank you for being an essential part of this journey. From transportation and practice help, to costume touches and cheering in the audience, your encouragement has meant the world. We are so grateful for your trust and partnership throughout the season.

As your directors, it has been an honor guiding you through this festive experience. You embraced challenges, celebrated accomplishments, built friendships, and created moments of magic that we will remember long after the lights go down and the music fades.

Though this recital is coming to a close, new artistic adventures await. Whether your journey continues on our stage or leads you elsewhere, you will always be a part of our COMAD family, and our doors are always open.

Thank you for your passion, your kindness, and your unique talents. You made this season shine, and our hearts are full because of you.

Happy Holidays and congratulations on a wonderful performance! With warmth and pride,

Mrs Catherine Cianciulli, Mrs Erica McGeehan and the Artistic Staff fo the Conservatory of Music and Dance
